ON THE SCIENCE OF TENDER PASSION

Vladimir Chugunov

Purity and carnality, promises and betrayals, ideals and disillusionments, in a whirlwind waltz which leads the protagonist to wake up his sleep, hiding the true face of life. Between philosophy and enchantment, this great novel takes us to Russia with subtlety and elegance in order to explain us about the science of the tender passion.

Vladimir Chugunov's new masterpiece, the winner of both the "Gorky" authoritative literary prize with his book "The militant Church" (2015) and the "Dostoevskij" literary prize with the book "Provincial Apocalypse" (2017).

VADIMIR CHUGUNOV

Vladimir Chugunov was born in 1954 in Gorkij's hometown. He is the author of "Russian Children", "Youth", "Girlfriend", "Communion" and "Provincial Apocalypse". The collection of novellas "The forsaken garden" stands out among the other publications. In 2010 he establishes himself as a successful writer, when he becomes a candidate for the respected Russian literary prize "Jasnaja Polijana", thanks to "Youth", "Girlfriend", "Communion" and "Adam's Lament". He was also a finalist in many other national competitions. In 2015 he wins the prestigious literary prize "Gorkij" with "Militant Church" and in 2017 he wins the literary prize "Dostoevskij" with the social protest novel "Provincial Apocalypse".
