

PERFECT DAYS

Daniela Pasqualetti

Thomas is a charming real estate agent who was born in England. At almost fifty years old, he begins to be tired of his life and his playboy reputation. He spends some time in Tuscany on business, staying at “Attimo Fuggente”, an agritourism not far away from Pisa, only run by women. Many things happen to him: he tries to avoid Viola’s advances (she’s an orphan teenager who looks for a father figure in him) and Vittoria’s curiosity towards him. Eventually he finds himself falling in love for Caterina, who is a relative of the two other girls. Surprised and unsettled by the intensity of his emotions, the protagonist begins a voyage of self-discovery which leads him to turn his life around.
