

THE DOCTOR

Andrey Y. Uboghiy

Grigory Dneprov, successful surgeon, couldn't imagine that his peaceful life was going to change drastically. A troubling story of love, jealousy, incurable disease, crime and escape. Going through the bowels of social hell, Dr Dneprov finds himself surrounded by 'invisible people', but he keeps fighting to survive. A true story inspires this captivating plot, narrated in the first person.

DETAILS

Pages: 200 (14x21)

Already published in Russia and in Italy

NOTES - Fiction - Novel inspired by a true story

ANDREY YUREVICH UBOGHIY

Andrey Yurevich Uboghiy was born into a family of doctors in 1963 in Zheleznogorsk, in the Kursk region. He graduated in Kaluga and got his degree in Medicine in Smolensk. He has been working as a urological surgeon in Kaluga's Hospital since 1986. He is the author of The Bitter Happiness, The River Path, Student House, Streets, Reliquary, and Words left to speak, The Doctor as well as of many articles written for the Russian magazines. He obtained several awards: the V.V. Kozhinov Prize (established by the editorial staff of the magazine 'Nash Sovremennik') in 2003; annual awards of the magazine 'Nash Sovremennik' (in 1997, 2009 - for the novel The Doctor - 2011, 2014); candidate for the Gorki Prize in 2017 (with the book The Manuscript), International Literary Prize of F.M. Dostoevsky in 2017 (with the novel The Doctor); 'Otchij Dom' Award by the Kireevskij brothers (2005, 2017); Leonid Leonov's Kaluga Region Award (2002, 2013); Prize of the Kaluga association of the Federation of theatre artists as best debut (2015) (with the book Sisters).

